UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ
DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING
Senior Marine Biologist in Residence

The Department of Electrical Engineering at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for the position of Associate Researcher in Electrical Engineering under the direction of Professor Marco Rolandi. This is a job for a “senior biologist in residence” with broad and long-term experience with vertebrate and invertebrate marine animals. The aim of this position is to explore new cutting edge research and cross-disciplinary opportunities in materials and electrical sensors derived and inspired from marine life. A creative and freethinking individual is desired. The individual is also expected to work with undergraduate and graduate students in the group, conduct independent research, as well as contribute to writing grants and scientific publications.

RANK: Associate Researcher

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: A Ph.D. or equivalent foreign degree in biology, molecular biology, ocean sciences, or related fields. A minimum of 10 years’ experience post Ph.D. in marine vertebrate and invertebrates.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Research experience in vertebrate and invertebrate marine biology, microbiology, materials science, and electrical signaling in vertebrates and invertebrates. Industrial experience in the fishing industry for commercialization opportunities is strongly desired

POSITION AVAILABLE: As soon as possible after closing date.

TERM OF APPOINTMENT: The initial appointment is for one year at 40% time, with the possibility of extension. Depending on the availability of funding, the percent time may increase up to 100% time. Should the hiring unit propose reappointment, a review to assess performance will be conducted. Reappointment is also contingent upon availability of funding.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system, and must include a CV, 3 representative publications, and 3 letters of recommendation*. Documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00376>
